Keep reading to learn how to get the best deal on your mobile phone plan.What Is a Mobile Phone Plan?For those with home internet who are rarely away from home, a monthly mobile phone plan may be a waste of money. Using a smartphone, you can use the phone by tapping into your home Wi-Fi network. If you travel a lot or are away from home on a regular basis, having a mobile phone plan gives you the freedom to access the internet and make and receive calls and text messages from the comfort of your phone no matter where you're located as long as you have a connection to your carrier's nearby cell tower. There are a variety of major mobile phone service carriers. The most common ones across the United States are Verizon, Sprint, T-Mobile, AT&T, Metro PCS, Boost and Cricket.What to Look for in a Mobile Phone PlanThere are three primary aspects to consider when purchasing a mobile phone plan. You'll need to look at limits regarding: Talk Text messaging Internet data Look at past mobile phone statements to get a good idea of how much talk, text and data you use. This gives you a clear picture of the type of mobile plan to purchase moving forward. Get a Plan That Meets Your NeedsThe best way to save money on a mobile phone plan is to purchase one that fully meets your needs. You can buy a plan that limits how much you can use the phone in regards to making and receiving calls and texts and accessing the internet. You also have the option to buy an unlimited plan. Many carriers allow you to customize your plan. Take for example you don't make or receive many calls each month — but you're a heavy text messenger. A good plan for you would be one with 100 minutes worth of talk and unlimited messaging. You can also add on a certain number of gigabytes worth of internet data if you want to use the phone to access the internet.Go UnlimitedUnlimited talk and text plans are ideal for people who make more than 100 minutes worth of calls and send hundreds to thousands of texts each month. You can usually get this type of plan for around $40 a month. For an unlimited talk, text, and data plan, you're looking at spending anywhere from $50 to $70 a month. Skip Insurance and Enroll in Auto PayAnother way to save money on a mobile phone plan is to skip the insurance. If you aren't prone to breaking or cracking your phone, you might not ever need it. Lastly, many carriers offer discounts if you enroll in auto pay. You can save up to $5 or more by enrolling. Over the course of a year, the savings may equal a full month's worth of mobile service. Plus, enrolling keeps you from missing your payment date, which is helpful in avoiding late fees. Back in the day, many people would list their phone numbers in the White Pages. While some still do, this isn't always the most effective way to find folks. So where do you go when you're trying to look someone up and having no luck? Thankfully the internet has a variety of resources available at your fingertips. With a USA public phone book free, you can find everything you need to look someone up and get in contact with them. Using Reverse Searches Through White PagesUsing reverse searches can help you find a person you've been looking for. Use the reserve search feature of Whitepages and look someone up using their name, address, city, state, or zip. You'll get results telling you what their current phone number is. Even if you don't get the full phone number for free, you can usually get a partial result. This can help narrow down how or where to reach the person, and determine if they've changed their number.Search by a Username to Find Someone's Cell PhoneSometimes you can find a person's phone number if you know a username that's commonly associated with them. It might be an email address, a handle they use on forums or social media, or something you know is tied to their name. This can provide a helpful way of narrowing down the likelihood that you've traced the right person. When you know other names a person goes by, you don't need a phone book number to get the information you're looking for.Use Facebook to Locate a Person's NumberFacebook is a helpful way to find someone's phone number simply because so many people are signed up on this powerful social networking site. You can search by a person's name and find their profile as long as you have a Facebook account. You might not see the full phone number, but you can easily send them a friend request and connect with them from there and in turn, get their number. It's a useful way to ensure you're getting the right information, and you don't have to pay anything to do so.Try Searching by Name for Results You Don't Need to Pay ForTrying searching for an individual by their name and the location where you last knew they lived to find a phone number. Sometimes you can see their number right next to their name, and get connected that way. If you can't find a person's information in a public phone book free, the next best thing is to try reverse searching to make the right connection. Sometimes this information is still limited, but it can still help point you in the right direction.Get in Touch and Find Someone by Searching for Their Number OnlineNow that you know how to find numbers online, you don't need to worry if you have a USA phone book or not. Trying using these various methods and see if you can find the people you're looking for at no additional cost. At the very least, you'll get an idea of where they're living and how to get in touch with them again. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET Photo Courtesy: Dan Porges/Getty Images Ever since mobile phones became the new normal, phone books have fallen by the wayside, and few people have any phone numbers beyond their own memorized anymore. As a result, whether you're looking for an unfamiliar number or a previously known one after your phone broke, you'll probably need to turn to the internet to find it. Here are a few ways you can find an unknown phone number online. Use a Search Engine It's no secret that Google is the largest and most popular search engine, and that makes it a great place to start your phone number search. Finding the phone number of a business is usually as easy as entering in the organization's name and hitting enter, but if you're looking for a personal phone number, it may be difficult to find. It may help to try adding in their address or occupation along with their name. If one combination of information doesn't work, another might. Photo Courtesy: Alastair Pike/Getty Images Even if Google fails, don't rule out other search engines, such as Yahoo! or Bing. Because different search engines order results in different ways, you never know which one will get you what you need. And if nothing else, you can use any search engine to determine what a phone number's area code signifies. Just be aware that it's common for people who have moved to keep the same cell phone number, meaning that area codes aren't guaranteed to tell you where someone is calling from. Try an Online Database Although phone books may no longer be a part of most people's lives, their function lives on through online databases that make it easy to find phone numbers and other information. Zabasearch is one such online directory. In addition to phone numbers, this website lets you search for all kinds of public information, including names, addresses, ages, phone numbers and more. Basic searches are free, and you can also pay for premium services, including looking up who a social security number belongs to, background checks, reverse cell phone searches and more. If you don't find the number you're looking for or want to verify that it's correct, you can also try any number of similar sites, such as The Real Yellow Pages or Whitepages. Different sites may also provide different information. Whitepages, for instance, lists likely relatives when doing a search. Use Facebook Believe it or not, you can find more than photos of family and friends on Facebook. Many businesses list their phone number on their social media profile, which you in turn can look up just by knowing the organization's name. Moreover, you can enter phone numbers into Facebook's search bar to see if any users have registered their account with that number. While most people either set their accounts to private or don't list their number, you can still get lucky with this trick from time to time. Photo Courtesy: Chesnot/Getty Images Do a 411 Search Many phone service providers let users make 411 calls that can be used to find phone numbers and other information. Depending on the kind of phone service you have, dialing 411 may either let you learn the number and other information about the last person to call you, or you may reach an automated menu that you can use to request phone numbers, names and addresses and other information. In both cases, there may be a fee for using this service. Photo Courtesy: Future Publishing/Getty Images Alternatively, you can access a similar service for free by dialing 1800-FREE-411 (1-800-373-3411). You'll need to listen to a brief advertisement before you can use the service, but otherwise, there is no cost guaranteed. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET
